

RIVER RESIDENTS ORGANIZE TO HALT BUILDING OF DAM

Lake County Not Included in Plans for Water Control.

If the $175,000 appropriated by the last legislature for the purpose of building a dam to conserve the waters of the chain of lakes is ever utilized, it is evident that the people of the region will have a fight on their hands to do it. That this was true was evident at a meeting Sunday of the mayors of the Fox River valley and interested residents of the lake region at which speakers from the valley announced their intention of forming an organization to oppose the building of the dam.

An analysis of the case has revealed the fact that the opposition was being led by Mr. Everett Hunter of the Hunter Boat Company and Hunter Boat Livery of McHenry and by Mayor P. F. Frett and a group of McHenry merchants all of whom are moved by the fear that there will be an obstruction built between them and the chain of lakes. They claim that this will delay their free passage into the lakes, notwithstanding the fact that it has been explained that the proposed new dam will have an electrically operated lock which may be filled and emptied so quickly that it will necessitate a delay of only five minutes for the largest river boat.

In their protest they have enlisted the support of the various interests along the river as far as down as Ottawa. They have told these people that the beautiful Fox River would be reduced to a "mere rivulet." These statements, together with propaganda which has been spread about to the effect that the project is backed by ambitious realtors of the lake region, have found lodging in the minds of many along the Fox river, who are rallying to the support of McHenry's mayor and boat manufacturer in their protest.

Low Water Prevents Boat Trip

J. C. James, C. K. Anderson, B. F. Naber, R. C. Abt, Louis Rothens, Jr., and S. E. Pollock were the lakes representatives present at the meeting called by Mayor Frett of McHenry. Mayors of Elgin, Aurora, and Yorkville were also among those present.

The inspection trip up the river into the lakes was stopped at the railroad at Pistakee lake because of the fact that the boat upon which they had purchased their passage could not proceed further on account of low water.

About 25 of the party then returned to the village hall of McHenry where a lively session was held, and it was here that it became apparent that the lake residents of Lake county and the interests along the river in McHenry county could not cooperate, because of the fact that residents of McHenry would never consent to the building of a dam upstream from that village.

"You cannot belong to our association because we are against the building of a new dam and you are for it" is the statement credited to P. W. Frett, village president of McHenry. Therefore residents of Lake county are not invited to the meeting to be held at McHenry next Sunday where it is planned to form a permanent association to protest any attempt to regulate water levels above McHenry.

Scoffs State Engineers

When it was suggested that the matter be left to the State Waterways Committee and state engineers for a satisfactory solution of the problem, spokesmen for the protesting group openly scoffed at the proposal, claiming that they desired to keep the matter out of politics.

Small Is Silent

It is understood that numerous protests have been carried to Gov. Small by those opposed to the project, but the chief executive has announced that action on the matter will be reserved until the Lake county group has presented the case for the chain of lakes region.

Eventually the matter will be decided by the proper state and federal authorities.

JUDGED THE LAKE REGION'S FAIREST

"Miss Antioch"

Winner of the American Legion Bathing Beauty contest, Miss Helen Kettelhut will represent the community at the event in Waukegan, where "Miss Liberty" will be selected.

Miss Kettelhut is 20 years old, has bobbed hair, is five feet two inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. She was the choice of the judges from eleven candidates at the Summer Festival last week and by her naturalness and grace captivated the crowd. She is looked upon as a strong contender for the title "Miss Liberty." The winner of that honor will be awarded a prize of $250 and a very attractive contract for stage work.

"Miss Antioch" and "Miss Lake Villa" each will ride in a specially prepared float at the big parade at Waukegan tomorrow night. A hundred floats will pass before the stand where they will be reviewed by Senator Deneen, Vice President Dawes and other notables. The big parade and the beauty contest are to be features of the Legion's big Summer Festival to be held in Waukegan Sept. 2, 3, 4 and 5.

"Miss Lake Villa"
Another of the winners in the Legion's big Bathing Beauty contest, held last week at the Palace was Miss Juanita Nickerson, who will be presented to the judges as

"Miss Lake Villa" in the final contest at Waukegan.

Miss Nickerson is a petite little brunette whose dainty, gracious manner won the audience in the local contest and will make her an entry to be reckoned with in the Waukegan contest Sept. 5th.

A Popular Choice at the Legion's
Big Bathing Beauty Contest

Another popular choice at the Festival was Miss Nevelier, who as winner of the third place, was awarded a beautiful hand bag and vanity case. She found favor with judges and audience. Miss Nevelier was one of the local contestants, having entered the competition from Antioch where she is spending the summer.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AWARDED TO TWO A. T. H. S. STUDENTS

Glenna Roberts and Wm. Schwenk, Class of '27
Win Honors.

Miss Glenna Roberts, a member of the 1927 graduating class of the Antioch Township High School, was the winner of the scholarship awarded by the county to Illinois University. Miss Roberts won the scholarship by standing the highest in a written examination, in which all of the students graduating from the various high schools in the county were privileged to compete.

This is the second year that the scholarship has been won by an Antioch student, Eric Noe having won it last year. It is a valuable one, entitling the owner to attend the university for the ensuing year without payment of tuition fees.

Wm. Schwenk, of Allendale Farm, Lake Villa, also a student of Antioch Township High School, was awarded a scholarship at the University of Illinois for excellence of work in Agriculture. The award entitles him to tuition and fees in the College of Agriculture during the four years of his college course. It is awarded yearly throughout the state to one in each county except Cook, and to five in that county and is financed by the Lake County Farm Bureau. The award was made on the recommendation of C. L. Knill, local Smith-Hughes instructor in Agriculture in the high school, and of C. Gilbertson, head of the Lake County Farm Bureau.

QUARTER MILLION IS WAUKEGAN'S FIRE LOSS YESTERDAY

Blaze Started at Pearce's
Drug Store Sweeps
Through Block.

Fire which started in the Pearce Drug Store on the corner of Genesee and Washington Street in Waukegan at 9:35 yesterday morning raged all day and by nightfall when it was brought under control had caused a loss estimated between $250,000 and $300,000. Fire departments from Waukegan, North Chicago, Zion, Lake Bluff, Great Lakes, and Lake Forest worked to capacity to halt the spread of the conflagration.

The places affected by the fire were: Pearce's Drug Store, which was completely gutted; National Tea Co., also a complete loss; James A. Watrous Hardware store, roof collapsed, stock ruined; Peacock restaurant, burned out; Nolan's East Shop and office; Central rooming hall; Stewart Barber shop; Waukegan Cab Co. offices. Slight damage by water, smoke, and fire was also done to the Christian Science reading room, Henderson's store, Dr. Levine's office, Carney's Radio store and Wylie's shoe store.

The fire is presumed to have started from crossed electric wires in the basement of the Pearce store. The buildings burned have long been considered a poor fire risk and only last week several were condemned by the building commissioner and owners of others were ordered to clean up the refuse in the basement. The Pearce building was a landmark in the city, having been built in 1855 and recently quite extensively repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Moore and son Robert, left this morning for a week's vacation visit in Galva and Kewanee.

Gibson Here Tuesday; Puts Final O. K. on Training Camp

Gene Tunney will take his first workout at Cedar Crest Country Club tomorrow afternoon, according to announcement by Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, who visited the training quarters Tuesday and made a final tour of inspection of the place where the champion will continue his training in preparation for his title battle with Jack Dempsey September 22.

To Welcome Champ

Cedar Crest Club, the towns of Antioch and Lake Villa, and the entire region are preparing to extend a royal welcome to the "King of the heavies" Friday. Antioch and Lake Villa will be appropriately decorated in honor of Tunney, and hundreds of signs directing visitors to Cedar Crest have been placed along the highways.

Tunney, with his five sparring partners and seven other personages of more or less importance will travel from New York to Chicago in a special car hooked on to the Twentieth Century Limited and will arrive in Chicago at 10:40, daylight saving time, Friday morning.

After the formality of meeting Mayor Thompson at the city hall, the champion and his retinue will, according to present plans, proceed at once to the training camp, traveling via Milwaukee Avenue through Lake Villa and Antioch to Cedar Crest.

"Gene will be rarin' to go after his trip here from New York and will undoubtedly take a good workout Friday afternoon," said Manager Gibson, who is well pleased with Tunney's condition. "He is ready to go now—he could fight next Monday," declared the genial Billy, waxing warm in his enthusiasm over Tunney's prime condition.

Modern Athletes Best

Modern athletes are far superior to the old timers, according to Gibson, who says modern sport in all lines has become a science and present day athletes have attained a proficiency unknown in the old days.

"Did you ever see a double knockout?" queried Billy as he continued his inspection of the ring at Cedar Crest. "I did, some years ago. Two tough scrappers, both carrying sleep-producing wallop, were having it out in an eastern city, and several rounds had been fairly even, when hingo, both turned loose powerful rights. The two fighters fell to the canvas and both were counted out by the referee, who tolled off the count of ten, right hand for one and left hand for the other."

"Then, once I saw a fellow counted out while standing on his head, his feet over the ropes, the fighter having been knocked into that unusual position by his victorious opponent," said Billy, continuing his accounts of unusual fights he had witnessed.

Is Pleased With Cedar Crest

"Everything is fine at Cedar Crest," said Gibson addressing Geo. Haldas and L. J. Brown, club managers, who have been preparing the place for Tunney's occupancy, and who are in large measure responsible for the coming of the champ.

Tunney's public workout with sparring partners will take place at the ring near the riding academy from 2:30 to 3:30 afternoons as announced.

The decorating committee has requested that all business places in Antioch display the flag tomorrow in honor of Tunney's coming.

Legion Meet for 1927 Coming to Waukegan

Waukegan will entertain the state meeting of the American Legion next year. The decision was reached at the annual meeting of the organization at Joliet on Tuesday, as a result of the efforts of legionnaires from Waukegan, and Antioch and other nearby towns, all of whom urged its coming to the city on the lake.

SILVA KNOCKS OUT McMULLIN IN 8TH

Promoter Dick Lyons Stages Great
Boxing Card at Waukegan
Last Thursday

Jack Silva of Iowa, knocked out MacMullin of Waukegan in the 8th round of Dick Lyons initial show held last Thursday night at the Slovenic hall in Waukegan. On the same occasion Joe Guynan, Philadelphia, beat Mickey McLaughlin, Milwaukee, in 8 rounds, Ollie O'Neill, South Chicago knocked out Al Pilch, Great Lakes, in the third round and Tommy Williams, Florida, took 6 rounds to beat Enrique Valdez, Cuba.

Although he was forced to stand a loss of about $700 on his first show, the crowd in attendance was enthusiastic and Lyons, nothing daunted, announced that he would try again to interest the people of Waukegan. Most of the crowd for the last show had come from Mundelein, Libertyville and North Chicago.

CITY BRIEFS

School will begin next Monday both in the Antioch Township High School and the Antioch Grade School. Registration of high school students was held Monday.

A new boulevard light has been erected this week in front of Nixon's Royal Blue Store and Confectionery shop.

The Antioch Sales and Service company are redecorating their sales room this week in preparation for the long anticipated arrival of the new Ford.

Standard Time to Be Resumed Next Tuesday

Antioch and vicinity will turn time backward in its flight by one hour next Monday night when the village ordinance repealing daylight saving time goes into effect.

Daylight saving time went into effect June 1st and was scheduled to continue until the first of October but it was found inexpedient to continue it after the opening of the village schools because many of the students came from outside communities where the daylight saving time was not the order of the day. Accordingly next Tuesday was set as the first day upon which the use of Standard time would be resumed.

Antioch Firms Will Supply Tunney Camp

Tunney's camp will get much of its supplies from Antioch. Among the firms which will provide the camp with the necessities and luxuries in the way of food are Somerville Bakery which will provide bakery goods and King's Drug store which will supply the ice cream and soft drinks.

Expect Early Paving of Gap in Route 59

Work on the gap in route 59 has been resumed this week and puddling preparatory to paving is under way. While no decision has been obtained from State Supt. of Design, H. E. Cerman, the state inspectors on the job are confident that his consent will be obtained and the road paved this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Smart and two sons of Waukegan were calling on Antioch relatives Sunday.

145 STUDENTS ASK ADMISSION TO THE LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

Freshman Class Is Largest Ever Enrolled—New Facilities Attract.

One hundred forty-five students enrolled for courses in the Antioch Township High School this year at the preliminary registration held Monday. The number will probably be augmented by 15 or 20 when school opens next Tuesday, according to records of last year's students.

The largest group ever listed enrolled as Freshmen, 56 signifying their intention of entering school next week. 37 Sophomores, 28 Juniors, and 24 Seniors completed the group registering Monday.

Among the Freshmen, classes in Cooking and Agriculture proved popular, the new laboratory facilities attracting an unusually large group. Chemistry also was elected by an exceptionally large number, 31 having registered for the course. As the facilities are sufficient for only 24 at a time two classes in the subject will probably be arranged.

The orchestra has been meeting for practice once each week since the 4th of July and at present enrolls about 20 members. It is anticipated that more will be added with the beginning of the school year.

W. C. Petty and family returned today and will spend Friday, and Saturday at the Teachers' Institute at Waukegan.

SLOVAKIA. C. TAKES HARD FOUGHT GAME FROM LOCAL TEAM

Visitors Take Third Place in League as Result of Sunday's Win

The Antioch Baseball team lost its last league game of the 1927 season Sunday to the Slovaks of North Chicago at the local park by a score of 6 to 9. The defeat gave the visitors third place in the final standings and dropped the locals from the third position which they have held nearly all season to fourth place.

The game was one of the hardest fought of the season and looked like an Antioch victory for six innings. W. Steininger was on the mound for the home boys and was enjoying what seemed to be a safe lead through the first six rounds, but exploded in the seventh when three singles and a triple by B. Mericle shoved over 3 runs and put the visitors 1 ahead. In their half of the seventh Antioch tied the score at 5 all but Morley, who replaced W. Steininger, was hit hard. Four hits, a walk, a fielder's choice and an error netted 4 runs and the ball game. Antioch tried gamely to rally in their last inning but could produce only one run on a pass to Nixon and a hit by Simpson.

Glogoski, Brey, Mesec and the Mericle brothers starred on offense for North Chicago. The pitching of Art Steiner who retired the side on strikeouts in the last inning was worthy of mention.

Lasco had a perfect day at bat, getting a triple, a single and two sacrifices in 4 trips to the plate. Simpson, Morley, and Bill Steininger each connected for two hits. The all around play of Nixon was worthy of comment. He handled seven chances cleanly in the field, got two walks and a sacrifice and scored 2 runs by some excellent base running.

The locals, with the exception of the fatal eighth inning, made a very good showing. Four sacrifices, two of which were the means of squeezing in runs, played an important part in the scoring. The two new infielders are improving with practise and experience and Antioch should make a good showing in their three remaining games.

Manager Lasco has booked the strong Kenosha Maroons for a return game at the local park next Sunday. They defeated the Antioch team by a great ninth inning rally several months ago but the home aggregation is confident of gaining a victory this time. This will be the last home game for the season and the crowd is urged to turn out and help their team close the season at home successfully both from the standpoint of games won and of finances.

Monday Antioch plays at Harrington and Sunday, Sept. 11, will play at Silver Lake, Wis.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"MAN" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, September 4.

The Golden Text was from 1 Cor. 2:11, "What man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth" (Genesis 1:1, 26).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Man is idea, the image of Love; he is not physique. He is the compound idea of God, including all right ideas; the generic term for all that reflects God's image and likeness; the conscious identity of being as found in Science, in which man is the reflection of God, or Mind, and therefore is eternal" (p. 475).

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Merrill returned Tuesday from a vacation motor trip in Nebraska, Iowa and Wisconsin.

BIRD LIFE TO BE FEATURE STUDY IN GRADE SCHOOL

Changes To Be Made In Mathematics, English and Geography

Bird Life was the feature course selected by Supt. T. A. Simpson to be studied in the grade schools of the county this year. Each year a feature course is selected so that during the child's eight years in the elementary schools he gets a knowledge of nature that broadens his outlook and strengthens his imagination.

Last year's special subject was Star Study and previous to that Plant Life and Trees have been studied. This is the first time in more than three years that Bird Life has been featured. The work calls for the watching of nesting birds, feeding, habits, song, change of coloring with the season, flights, food and habits. While many of the earlier migrants among the feathered folk will have gone before school opens on September 6th, an excellent opportunity will be afforded to study the migratory habits of birds and observations will be kept. Winter birds and their habits will be studied and the coming of spring will give a chance for continued study.

Additions will be made to the course in English and rudiments of algebra instead of geometry will be the course selected for the 7th and 8th grades. These subjects are related so that the students have an introduction to both subjects before they enter high school. Illinois history will replace civics this year and the two cycle geography course will be replaced by a continuous course which will terminate with world study in the 8th grade. There will be few changes in text books.

Corn Brings More Money "on the Hoof"

THE best authorities agree that "hogging down" corn is a profitable practice. Run out temporary fences through your corn and turn in your hogs. They are the best of hogs—never miss an ear. You save the cost of husking, hauling, cribbing and feeding and get your hogs to market quicker and in better condition.

And for these temporary fences, as well as for permanent fences, use Red Top steel posts. These can be driven at the rate of 200 to 300 a day, through the hardest soil, by one man using the One Man Driver. Are easily withdrawn and re-driven in a new location.

Red Top GUARANTEED Steel Fence Posts

You will save a lot of fence making and repairing time every year if you repair old fences and make new ones with Red Top Steel Posts. Any fence erected on Red Tops is there sound and secure for many years of service and enables you to practice the modern program of crop diversification and clear more money from your farm.

Stop in and handle a Red Top post. Let us show you why it is a better steel post.

House Bill 237 (Johnson, G. J.). Amends section 12 of an Act to create sanitary districts and to provide for sewage disposal, approved June 22, 1927, by providing that the right to levy additional tax previously authorized by the legal voters may be terminated at any time after one or more levies thereunder, at an election, called upon petition of not less than 10 per cent of the legal voters of the district.

House Bill 238 (Johnson, G. J.). Amends section 4 of an Act concerning sanitary districts and sewage disposal so as to limit the salary of the members of the board of trustees to $300 per annum instead of $100 per annum.

House Bill (Lager). Provides for licensing and regulating of horse racing in state by director of agriculture. Gives the amount of license fee to be paid every day at each horse racing meet and requires a certain amount of the gate receipts to be paid to the director of agriculture. Licensees under Act are required to keep accurate records of meets and may be required by the director to give bonds. License fee money shall be turned over to the State Treasurer to be used as prize money or premiums at fairs and exhibitions in the State. Penalties for violation of Act are provided. The operation of pari-mutual or certificate system of wagering by patrons is authorized (minors excepted), the licensee to retain not to exceed 6 1/2 per cent and the breaks, as his commission. Acts in conflict herewith are rendered inapplicable. Provisions of Act do not apply to racing meets held at fairs in the State.

House Bill 245 (Porter). Amends section 41 of the County Court Act to provide that the County Court in the county of Hamilton shall convene on the second Monday of April and October instead of on the second Monday of January and August.

House Bill 250 (Weiss). Amends section 77 of the school law, providing that a township treasurer shall publish a statement of receipts and disbursements as is provided by the Act of June 24, 1919, for other custodians of public moneys.

House Bill 251 (Weiss). Amends section 4 of the Act of June 24, 1919, requiring custodians of public moneys to publish statements of the receipts and disbursements thereof. The cost of such publication shall be paid out of the funds of the county, district, city, town, village or other body in which the officers holds office, instead of out of funds in the officers' hands.

House Bill 254 (Curran). Appropriates $25,361,890.00 for the ordinary and contingent expenses of the State Treasurer and for interest and retirement of State bonded indebtedness until the expiration of the first fiscal quarter after the adjournment of the next general session of the General Assembly.

House Bill 256 (Igoe). Amends section 6 of "An Act relating to the civil service in park systems," provides that the examination now required to be held at least once in two years shall be held once in two years unless, in the discretion of the board, such examinations are not necessary.

Motorists are Quick to Change to this SUPERIOR Gasoline

—It Costs No More

The NEW Shell Gasoline—400 "Extra Dry"—has made a hit from the start. And no wonder. It is the gasoline that is different, better in every way—and costs no more than the ordinary kind.

And it is fulfilling every promise that has been made for it. Greater power—the motor indicates it. Quicker response—the get-away proves it. Cleaner burning—the spark plugs show it.

What "400 End Point" means—what "Extra Dry" means—are technical features of interest to the scientific mind. But every motorist, whether or not he understands the importance of these revolutionary changes in gasoline refining, can appreciate the result of these changes in the greatly improved performance of his car.

Today—do as thousands of other car owners are doing—"Change to Shell." Fill up the tank with 400 "Extra Dry" Shell Gasoline—fill the crankcase with Shell Motor Oil—then let the quiet purr of the motor and the dial of the SPEEDometer speak for themselves.

Methodist Church Notes

Sunday, the last of the vacation Sundays, will be known as Friends Day at the Methodist church. The church has had a most wonderful summer from the standpoint of attendance. The lake folks have been most loyal to the church and their coming has been greatly appreciated. To complete the record set every friend of the church should make an effort to come Sunday.

The invitation applies to Antioch folks as well, many of whom have been bringing their friends throughout the season. The Sabbath School meets at 9:45 and the service of worship at 10:45.

St. Ignatius' Church Notes

Kalendar-12th Sunday after Trinity.

9:30 Church School.

10:00 Masses and Sermon.

Next Sunday will be Labor Day Sunday. Edmund H. Stroud, president of the Stroud Mfg. Co., will give an address. Mr. Stroud is a capitalist and a business man of note. He has for years pleaded for Christ in industry and has followed out the principles of fair wages and working conditions among his employees for years. Mr. Stroud is a Churchman of note, a former Vestryman, Chairman, Lay Reader, and for many years president of the Diocesan Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

On September 11th, Fr. Gwyn of St. Lawrence's church at Libertyville will celebrate the Holy Communion at 7:30. Breakfast will be served in the Rectory for those in the Church School so that they will not need to go home after the service. It is to be hoped that those who have let the summer "slip" will make an earnest effort to make their Communion at this time. The time will be Standard time after Labor Day.

The 15th Sunday after Trinity will be September 26th. Mark it in your note book as it will be one of the great red letter days in St. Ignatius' Parish program for 1927. Rally Sunday—at which time every man, woman, and child that is connected with our work in the Parish or interested in it will outwardly and visibly proclaim the same by attendance at one of the three services. There will be special music in the evening and it is hoped that all who consider themselves loyal will save the morning and evening worship hour for this day in spite of dinner guests, sleep, feeling, desires, and what not. Religion can be and ought to be a habit. No one ever thinks of not eating or going to work—why the different logic in religion?

St. Ignatius' Parish invites all those who have no Spiritual Home to come and "be one of us." It invites the curious to investigate the claims of the church, a haven for sinners and a school for saints. Certainly you can fit somewhere in that.

The young ladies of the Sunday School gave Miss Dorothy DeVuyt a surprise party Saturday evening. She was taken for a ride early in the evening and upon her return home was greeted by a household of young people. Those present were: Alice and Beulah Brown, Francis Lewis, Eunice Dixon, Florence Selby, Ann Griffiths, Grace Pohlman, Clifton Gates, Francis Foulke, Edgar Foulke, Allan Higgins, Alfred Pohlman, Ruth Dixon, Willard Pohlman, Elsie Thorne, Florence Murdock, Mrs. Jean Thorne, Mrs. Nettie Brown, Rev. and Mrs. David Johnson, Eleanor Gibbons, Lyle and Chester DeVuyt from Bristol. Ward Rowbottom from Kenosha and Isabelle Keuper. Frank Keuper and Mary Morris from Union Grove. Bunco was played. The girls' first prize was won by Isabelle Keuper and the consolation, Francis Lewis. The boys' first prize went to Willard Pohlman, and consolation to Allan Higgins. Refreshments were furnished by the girls who gave the party.

Miss Ruby Fox and Miss Edith Murdock, accompanied by Mary and Clarence Murdock motored to Waukegan Saturday to visit friends.

Dr. and Mrs. Auwers and family (now located at Union Grove) are contemplating leaving soon for a new home.

Introduction of New AC and Rectifier Tubes Announced

New Tubes Replace "A" Batteries With Use of Small Transformers; Full Wave and Half-Wave Rectifiers for "B" Battery Elimination.

New tubes which with the use of a small step-down transformer will eliminate "A" batteries from receiving sets especially designed to accommodate them, and improved rectifier tubes for use in eliminating "B" batteries, or in special circuits to do away with "A" batteries, will soon be placed on the market according to an announcement by E. E. Bucher, General Sales Manager of the Radio Corporation of America. These new tubes numbering four in all are the result of ceaseless research and experiment extending over a number of years, on the part of the Radio Corporation and its manufacturing associates, the General Electric Company and the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company.

"There will shortly be introduced," reads Mr. Bucher's announcement, "two AC types of Radiotrons having operating characteristics similar to those of the 201-A type and which insofar as performance is concerned give the same results obtainable from the 201-A or 199 types of tubes; but in which unrectified current obtained from a step-down transformer eliminates the usual 'A' battery. These are to be known as types UX-226 and UX-227.

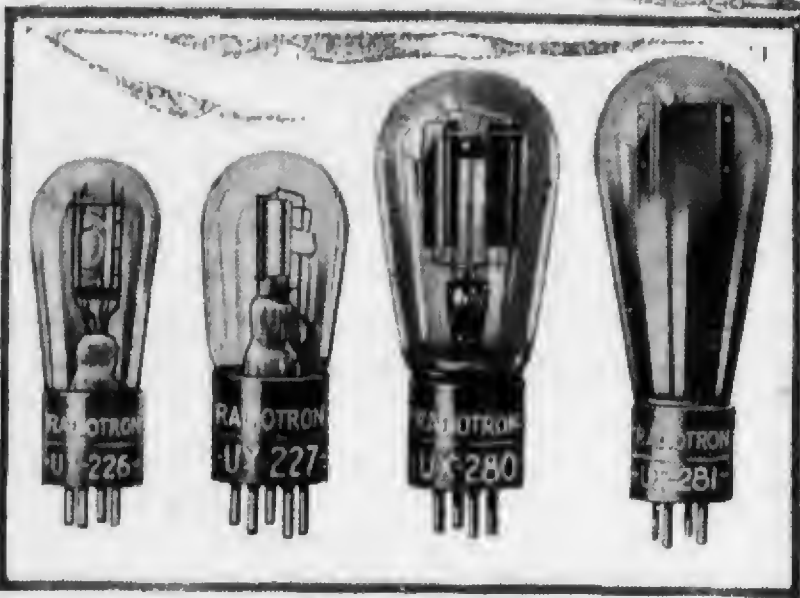

"In addition the Radio Corporation plans to introduce two new and improved Radiotron rectifiers of the filament type for use in 'B' battery eliminators, or, in special circuits for and in the first A. F. stage, UX-227 in the detector stage, and one of the Radiotron power amplifiers in the last audio stage, i. e., UX-112, UX-171 or UX-210. The requisite low-voltage supply for the filament may be obtained from an independent step-down transformer or from additional low-voltage windings on the usual 'B' or plate supply transformers.

The New Rectifier Tubes
UX-230 is a full-wave rectifier designed for rectifying apparatus and circuits requiring greater D. C. output than that afforded by the standard Radiotron rectifier UX-213. UX-230 gives D. C. output current of 125 milliamperes. It may be employed interchangeably in radio devices designed for UX-213. The increased D. C. output of UX-230 will, however, be secured only in circuits especially designed for it. This tube has a maximum overall height of 5 1/2" and a maximum overall diameter of 2 3/16".

UX-281 is a half-wave rectifier similar in external appearance to the UX-216-B, although of increased physical dimensions. UX-281 is interchangeable mechanically and electrically with the UX-216-B, in all radio rectifying devices primarily designed for the UX-216-B. In circuits especially designed for UX-281, a D. C. output current of 110 milliamperes is available.

Both of the new Radiotron rectifiers are of the hot cathode type, equipped

'A' battery elimination employing series filament drive. These tubes will be known as types UX-230 and UX-281."

"The new AC Radiotrons will not be immediately applicable to the present type of receivers," according to Mr. Bucher, "and they are not to be considered as taking the place of any of the present types of standard vacuum tubes. To accommodate the new AC tubes in the prevalent types of broadcast receivers, it would be necessary to make radical changes in design, and in many cases it would be entirely impracticable. The new with a new ribbon, oxide-coated filament which insures great ruggedness and long life.

Application of Rectifier Tubes
The new Radiotron rectifiers, UX-230 and UX-281, are immediately applicable to devices which heretofore employed UX-213 and UX-216-B, such as the RCA Duo-Rectron, the 104 Loud Speaker and the radio-phonograph combinations of the phonograph companies equipped for A. C. drive. It is expected that the new rectifier tubes will attain great popularity in battery eliminating devices, particularly as they do not necessitate the more Radiotron rectifiers, on the other hand, are applicable to many existing radio rectifying devices without further adaptation. They will give outstanding performance in battery eliminators especially designed for their characteristics."

Following is a general description and detailed specifications of the new Radiotrons and their fields of practical application.

"AC" Types of Radiotrons
Radiotron UX-226 is a 1 1/2 volt AC filament type, drawing current of 1.95 amperes, and intended for radio frequency and audio frequency amplification in circuits especially designed for its use. The filament is energized from an AC lighting source through a suitable step-down transformer.

Grid Voltage	6	12	9	12.5	Volts
Plate Current	3	5	6	12.5	Milliamperes

Amplification Factor	3.3	8.3	8.3	5.5
Max. Undistorted Output	20	60	70	140	Milliwatts
Max. Overall Height	4-11/16"

The operating characteristics of UX-226, other than the method of energizing the filament, are generally similar to those of the standard Radiotron 201-A. UX-226 is not recommended as a detector. It employs the standard "UX" Radiotron base.

Radiotron UX-227 is an A. C. heater type in which the electron emitting element (cathode) is made active through an independent internal heating element requiring 1.75 amperes at 2 1/2 volts, A. C. It is primarily intended as a detector tube in receiving sets where the radio-frequency and audio-frequency stages employ the UX-226 tube, although it may be employed for radio-frequency and audio-frequency amplification as well. UX-227 employs a special five-prong base.

Application of "A. C." Tubes
The new amplifier and detector tubes will be welcomed by amateurs and experimenters and it is likely that newly designed sets will employ Radiotron UX-226 in all r. f. sockets

Although the new AC tubes and the new rectifier tubes when employed in correctly designed circuits give satisfactory AC socket operation with most types of loudspeakers, nevertheless, the Radio Corporation has found no satisfactory substitute for the method of AC drive which it employs in Radiola 28 in combination with Loudspeaker 104; for the deep bass response of the Loudspeaker 104, from which it derives much of its tone quality, calls for an AC power supply system in which AC ripple has been reduced to the very minimum. This result is obtained in the 28-104 system of socket power operation, in which the filament current for the UX-199 tubes used in this set is obtained from the same source that provides the "B" current or plate supply for the receiver and the loudspeaker. Through this method, direct current, substantially free from ripples, is supplied to the filaments of the UX-199 tubes.

Synthetic Rubber

During the World war when Germany was cut off from supplies of crude rubber a great effort was made to produce synthetic rubber. Toward the close of the war about 150 tons of synthetic rubber were being produced monthly in Germany from isoprene derivatives, but the product was inferior to natural rubber and really served well only in hard-rubber goods. The industry ceased at the close of the war.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—From the comfortable financial situation to which he had been born, Peter Milman, American gentleman of the old school, and last of his family, is practically reduced to penury through the misfortune of a friend, Hassen Brewer, whom he had unwisely trusted.

CHAPTER IV.—Milman explains to his guests how, chiefly through his belief in Floyd Malet as a great sculptor and the victim of malevolent circumstances, he had subscribed to a press-clipping bureau and kept a detective on Haxson's track, learning much to Haxson's discredit, though nothing by which he could be reached legally. Himself impoverished through Haxson's crookedness, Milman proposes an association of the four men—an association outside the law—which shall pull down Haxson and force him to disgorge his ill-gotten financial gains.

CHAPTER II.—Learning of Brewer's failure, which means the destruction of the last hope, Milman engages a French butler, Achilles Luty, who speaks no English, and is to replace Hassen, secretary of long standing. By Luty, Milman sends letters to Prof. Fleming Bradley, Floyd Malet and Neiland Haxson, men whom the world has regarded as failures, ones of high position. In response, the three call on him at his home.

CHAPTER III.—After an extraordinary dinner Milman ushers his guests into the Japanese garden, where, after each has related the circumstances which marked their careers, he convinces them their misfortunes are directly traceable to the machinations of an unseen, unscrupulous enemy, a man who had risen to high financial position and political power by underhand methods, chiefly blackmail, Paul Haxson. Haxson also ruined Brewer, and incidentally Milman.

"Exactly," Bradley said quickly. "Will it lead to prison? You see, we should not go to prison as heroes, but as miserable little blackmatters, or something of that sort. Is this man sane? That's the thing which bothers me. I've never heard of him before. What is his family history? Is this a great delusion? Has he brooded so long that he has become abnormal? He knows about you and me and that as Barnes, but what do we know of him?"

"Let's ask Barnes. They have common friends, as we learned at dinner. I rather like Barnes. You can see he's willing to be first or second murderer whenever called upon."

Neiland Haxson was stretched on a chaise longue. Over his pajamas was a rich lounging robe of blue silk.

"Come in," he cried gently. He had entirely forgotten his temporary annoyance at Fleming Bradley, which had sprung less from dislike of him than a desire to come to the aid of his host.

"Look here, Barnes," Bradley began earnestly, "tell me as a man of the world what you think Mr. Milman really means."

"I think he's got a plan up his sleeve to trim this Haxson and share the profits with us. The idea suits me down to the ground."

"Do you think Milman is sane?"

"Haven't a doubt of it. Why should you?"

"His amazing proposition for one thing. He doesn't belong to the criminal classes, and yet he proposes to extract enough money from Haxson to pay back his own losses and endow my laboratory and start Malet again and give you a new chance. We know very well that Haxson won't give up money unless forced to. To use force is to come under the frown of the law. In short, it is a criminal undertaking."

"Not as I look at it," said Barnes easily. "Haxson in my opinion is an outlaw."

"But the law," Bradley insisted, "the law doesn't admit that. To the rest of the world he is a great man."

"We know he's a crook, so what do we care for the world?" Barnes was evidently not to be shaken. Bradley tried another tack. "Is there any insanity in the Milman family?"

"Not that I ever heard of. The Milmans have always been shrewd, conservative men. Poor old Peter's the last of 'em, and the best. It may be there's something crazy in wanting to live down here, and yet, when I see what a beautiful home he's got and think of my shack at Peekskill, I understand why he wants to fight to keep it."

Bradley nodded a genial good night to his visitors. He did not understand why they hung back. Already he was visioning the future. He would buy a great ranch in California. And there, with splendid horses to ride, he would pass the rest of his days. And, of course, he would have his daughter.

When the three men in evening dress were summoned to breakfast in the Japanese garden, they found their host similarly clad. Whether he had not been to bed, or whether he had dressed thus to make their own garb less singular, they did not know. They knew only that they found him free from embarrassment and as courteously considerate as he had been at dinner. Not during the meal was anything said about his proposition. Milman talked freely of his garden and the rare plants in it.

The Alarm Must Have Been Out of Order.

The alarm must have been out of order, for he saved his way in during dinner and broke his neck on a stone known, very amusingly, as the Stone of the Respectful Visitor. I am very well protected here. I have had time to elaborate certain devices which make me feel perfectly safe. The police assure me that my cellar is the attraction. It is stored with what was laid down many years ago and the law allows me to keep."

Watching the speaker carefully, Bradley had come to the conclusion that his host was wholly sane. "I've made up my mind," he said, when Achilles had gone.

"Well," said Milman. He felt if Bradley failed that Malet would be dissuaded. "Well?"

"I'm with you."

"I thought you would be when you had had time to reflect that what is unlawful is not always inequitable. I am very grateful. And you, Mr. Malet?"

"Count me in."

"I don't think Mr. Milman has any doubts about me," Neiland Barnes remarked.

Peter Milman smiled a little. He rather liked this big man. "I had no doubts about you. Now that we are agreed, let us discuss the thing."

"First of all," Bradley said, "what are your plans?"

"I have no plans," Milman returned. "I see that you look disappointed. Evidently, you expected me to have the whole thing out and dried. That, gentlemen, seems unreasonable. What object should I have in inviting you here if I were able to accomplish the thing alone? I approach the problem with an open mind. My contribution toward it will be to entertain you for three months. If at the end of that time we are not successful, this house will no longer be my home. We shall have failed, and if we are still at large there will be five hundred dollars each for you. All expenses will be borne by me. I hope you are not dismayed by my news. I do not think you will be. You have not been chosen idly. In Professor Bradley we have a great intellect fit to expend itself on our common problem. In Mr. Malet we have the quick mind and vivid imagination of the artist. Mr. Neiland Barnes brings to us physical prowess and an extensive knowledge of the underworld and its ways. My contribution seems small by comparison."

"First," said Fleming Bradley, "let us collate all documents that bear on the subject. I assume you have data concerning Paul Haxson, Mr. Milman?"

"I have a great deal," said his host.

"I know details of his personal and business life that he cannot possibly suspect."

"But how," Bradley asked, "if you rarely go out and never receive visitors, can you get at this information, which must most surely be very difficult of access?"

"In the beginning, by design. I was determined to find out what forces had pulled you and Malet down. Later, by accident. I spoke not long ago of my cellar. My father laid down a great deal of port in 1871, when I was born. It is a wine I do not greatly care for. A lawyer named Loddon, who has acted for me for some years, is also Haxson's confidential attorney. His name never appears publicly in Haxson's affairs. He is engaged mainly in keeping his client clear of the effects of earlier indiscretions. Loddon had dined with me many times, and this port induces amazing loquacity in him. If I have doubted his assertions, he has boasted the more loudly. These dinners became at last a most interesting part of my life. I drew him on deliberately, never permitting him to see my keenness." Milman smiled. "For every bottle of my port Loddon drank, he repaid me a hundred-fold. It was when Loddon learned that Malet had made 'The Settlers' that he told me in so many words that his client was responsible. I will not weary you with details. I have a careful record of every conversation. It soothed his ego to talk, and he believed me harmless. Yes, gentlemen, I know a great deal about Paul Haxson."

"And you think he'll be easy to defeat?" Bradley asked.

"No more dangerous man lives in all New York," Peter Milman said gravely. "That is why I have been so careful in selecting my companions."

HAPPENINGS OF WEEK IN NEARBY TOWNS

When Al. Kimmings of Highland Park was released from the hospital at that place last week he was surprised to learn upon "reliable authority" that he had been killed in an auto accident. His ire was softened slightly however by hearing that "he was an awfully good fellow and that it was too bad that he had to lose his life."

The city of Lake Geneva has had an epidemic of holdups lately. The last one was a few days ago when two masked men held up William Lewinski's barber shop in the heart of the business district and obtained $550 in cash and made their getaway without being molested.

"Indigo," a blue, black-barred homing pigeon, has returned to the loft of its owner, Caryl H. Ripley, of Williams Bay, from Malta, Montana. He and three others were sent to the 1,000 mile station to be released. On the evening of August 5, a wire was received by the express agent stating that the pigeons had been liberated that day and after eight days of waiting the first bird arrived here.

E. G. Shinner, of Chicago, who developed the Nippersink golf links and subdivision has sold the golf links to a newly organized company of lot owners in the subdivision and is reported to have received $158,000 for the same. The lot owners are organizing a holding corporation and will sell memberships in the golf club.

A stick of dynamite, placed by unknown persons in a concrete mixer belonging to the Lampert Construction company and located between Garden place and Ridgeland avenue in Yeoman place, Waukegan, exploded Thursday a. m. with a blast that shook the entire neighborhood. The motor of the mixer was wrecked and fragments thrown more than 100 feet. The detonation shook plaster off the walls of residences for several blocks and the blast was heard for more than a mile. Labor troubles were given as a probable motive.

Thieves who broke into the depot at Grayslake secured only pennies from the gum vending machine and the weighing machine as loot.

Practically all of the schools in the towns of Lake county and vicinity are scheduled to open on the 6th of September. Some are conducting advance registration Monday, August 29th and many on the morning of Monday, Sept. 5th.

Considerable excitement developed Thursday evening when J. W. Bonsett of Waukegan reported to the McHenry county sheriff that a youth whom he believed to have been Harry D. Hill of Streator, Illinois, had asked for and received a ride from him. The youth, according to Bonsett joined him near Lily Lake at the edge of Lake county and rode with him to the limits of McHenry, a distance of about five miles. At the time Bonsett noticed that his actions were peculiar. His answers to questions were evasive and as he got out of the car Bonsett noticed that he had an expensive suit of clothing under his overalls. Upon seeing the pictures of Hill in the paper the Waukegan man said he had little doubt but that the man to whom he had given the ride was Hill. Police have been searching the country for Hill, who is wanted in connection with the murder of his mother.

THE HIDDEN KEY--AND OTHER FAKES

By W. R. MOREHOUSE

Public Relations Commission, American Bankers Association

HAVE you ever gone hunting for the hidden key—a key hidden by real estate dealers in order that you among hundreds of others might be given the exercise of tearing up the surface of some new subdivision looking for it? Talk about wild turkeys tearing up the "terra firma," they haven't anything on man. A new subdivision is put on the market. Public interest in the tract is needed, so a key that will open a box in the tract office is hidden beneath the earth's surface somewhere in the tract. This hidden key will open the box in the office and inside the box the lucky finder of the hidden key will find a valuable prize. It may be anything from a diamond ring to an order for an automobile. A new automobile stands in front of the office and presumably it is the prize.

Picture in your own mind hundreds of eager searchers digging over the surface of a newly born boom subdivision, looking for the hidden key—the key to the big surprise box. About the time the diggers have been recruited to several hundred, the key shows up and the news of the discovery breaks. Soon the diggers gather around to see the mysterious box opened. Imagine the babble of joking remarks, some sarcastic and some expressing disappointment, as the grand prize is found to be a $100 certificate good as part payment on a lot, and not the new automobile. Day after day the hunt goes on, a new crop of diggers taking the places of those who have gone through the experience, with the same prize automobile serving as bait. The soil that was turned over the day before is turned back by the new crop of diggers today, and so it goes day after day. A lot of digging by a lot of people, a lot of soiled footwear, one key and one automobile, but an unlimited supply of $100 certificates. Just another scheme to catch a lot of "suckers."

Nearly every person possesses the gambling instinct to a more or less degree. The truth is, the average American is more or less inclined to take unnecessary risks. In the realm of money making many are ready to take a long-shot chance in order to strike it rich, if possible.

Knowing the inclination of the average American to gamble, irresponsible schemers lie awake nights plotting as to the best way of arousing the gambling instinct of the investor, and when this has been done they proceed to fleece him out of his cash. By using various "baits" these get-rich-quick promoters are usually successful, especially among persons who are inexperienced in making investments and who neglect to investigate before they invest.

You can't get rich by dealing with promoters of the wild-cat type, but you can quickly lose what capital you day. The signing of your name on the dotted line of some trick contract, or the drawing of your check payable to some sharp real estate or other promoter, or the turning over of your cash, may spell financial ruin for you. As a safeguard against losing your cash reserve, leave it in the bank until you have made a thorough investigation, which you can do without cost to you if you will consult your banker, or write to the National Better Business Bureau, New York.

Each day discloses new victims of some crooked scheme. Old schemes having lost their effectiveness as a result of exposure have given way to new schemes to defraud. The new schemes are even more deceptive than the old forms. Fractional-share schemes, territorial-rights schemes and co-operative land ventures are reaping a harvest for present promoters. Because so many new schemes are being formulated is another reason why you should investigate before you invest.

Largest of Chipmunks

Townsend's chipmunk is the darkest of the many species of chipmunk in the western states and ranges along the Pacific coast. It is distinctly larger and stronger than its relatives, says Nature Magazine. Chipmunks carry their stores in cheek pouches to some specially selected spot, where they leisurely enjoy their meal and leave a telltale pile of shells and seed coverings. Average adult measurement is 10 inches.

Screw Thread Idea Old

The invention of the screw is ascribed to Archimedes, 250 B. C. The American or United States standard thread is based on the investigation made by William Sellers and presented to the Franklin Institute in a paper read in April, 1864.

Cellar Sanitation

Cellar walls should be whitewashed once or twice a year. Whitewash is a disinfectant. If the cellar walls admit moisture, it is recommended to wash them with a dilute solution of hydrochloric acid (one part acid and five parts water) and then apply a plaster of oil-mixed mortar.

The Right Way

Some pedestrians meeting others pass on this side and some on that and no great harm is done; but there's only one safe rule to follow when a person meets temptation, and that is, keep to the right.

The Mark

People who are not themselves bookish sometimes speak of a lack of appetite for reading as if it were a sign of vigor of mind or originality. But, in fact, it is the mark of undeveloped powers, and it carries the penalty of ignorance of the most valuable thought and the most delightful pleasure in the world.—London Daily Telegraph.

Grade School Portable Building Is Complete

The new portable school building being constructed at the Antioch Grade School this week by J. E. Sibley and Son, is nearing completion and will, in all probability, be ready for occupancy by the end of the week.

The board have purchased new equipment for the first grade and expect that it, too, will be here by the first of the week. It is not yet definitely decided whether the new building will be utilized for the first or second grade. Present plans are that Miss Toulton, who assisted as departmental teacher last year, will teach the second grade and a teacher will be employed as assistant to occupy the place previously held by Miss Toulton.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON FRANCINE'S THRIFT

As Helen settled herself to Aunt Emmy's big chair she said: "Jack Hunt has bought the Briggs place. I never was so astonished in my life Jack didn't have a dollar when he married Francine and now he's bought a house."

"Well, my dear, it's not so surprising to me. Francine is responsible for their prosperity."

"Why, Aunt Emmy, I thought she was awfully frivolous. I remember how disappointed I was when Jack married her. She seemed entirely too pretty and too well dressed to be a good wife. When I dined at their house I thought she was frightfully extravagant about her table. She must have paid her cook a lot to have the food she served."

Aunt Emmy smiled. "I liked Francine from the first," she said. "She and I became good friends. She told me how worried she was because Jack did not seem to think of the future and never tried to save money. Everything about housekeeping was new to her that she was glad to come to me with her little problems. I advised her to save regularly, no matter how hard it might be. She coaxed Jack to open an account at the bank for her household money. He thought it was silly because they had so little. She said she could keep more accurate accounts if she had a bank account. He said they didn't have enough to keep track of. She insisted she wanted to learn to keep accounts. Then when they got rich, she'd know how."

"I don't need to tell you how they prospered. Three of the sweetest children in the world, and now a house Jack is proud as he can be."

"Yes," interrupted Helen, "but how did she do it?"

"The very first week after she started her checking account at the bank she took the money she saved and opened a savings account in the thrift department, where she got interest on her savings. You see, she was determined to save at least 10 per cent of her income. She saved steadily. She asked me to help her plan things out and together we worked out a budget so she could divide her income to meet her expenses. When her plan was working well she told Jack."

"He was tickled to death. Then he began to save too. Francine wanted a real home. They saved for that. They have been married six years now and they haven't a debt in the world. That excellent food, my dear, was all prepared by Francine herself. Just as her pretty clothes are made by her from remnants and odds and ends she picks up at bargain prices."—A. B. Ayres.

Antioch Boy Scouts Will Have Two Troops

The Boy Scout organization will have two troops of scouts in Antioch according to present plans. The old troop will be reorganized and known as Troop No. 1. This will be under the leadership of Scoutmaster A. M. Krah. Troop No. 2 will be led by H. C. Dixon. The change was made in order to stimulate the interest in Boy Scouts. Meetings will be held on Friday nights at 7:00 o'clock. Troop No. 1 will meet at the M. E. church and troop No. 2 at the Episcopal Rectory. This plan was entered into without any thought of religious difference, and all boys of any denomination will find a ready welcome in either troop.

Boys interested in scouting should see either Rev. Dixon or Rev. Krah.
